Technical Field The disclosure relates to an illumination device, and more particularly to a trim circuit and a dimming circuit of a light-emitting diode (LED) light fixture. Related Art As the society faces shortage of energy source, the green energy is one kind of the preferred energy sources. Moreover, along with the progress of the technology, LED are widely applied to various illuminations. When a power bank is used for supplying electric power to an illuminations device, the electric power can be supplied to the illuminations device in the conditions that the user does not need to pay attention. However, the power supply provided by the power bank and the current supplied to the illuminations device are independent from each other. For example, the electric power supplied by the power bank and the electric power supplied to the illuminations device are of different voltage levels. Due to the fact that the voltage of the power bank is generally high, the voltage of the electric power supplied to the illuminations device is limited to the standard voltage. Therefore, it is necessary to design a power converting circuit for converting the high voltage of the power bank into the standard voltage. Furthermore, in order to protect the illuminations device from being turned on under the condition of the power bank having insufficient power to the illuminations device, the power bank needs to provide a current detection circuit for sensing the current supplied to the illuminations device. However, in some cases, the current of the power bank increases from zero to the maximum current (for example, 500 mA) which is large enough for power supplying the illuminations device in a relatively short period. In this case, the electric power provided by the power bank is completely used up in a very short period. In consideration of the disadvantages in the prior art, the present invention provides a trim circuit and a dimming circuit of a light-emitting diode (LED) light fixture. I'm trying to format my date to look like this. 07/24/2019 And I'm converting the date to the unix time like this $date = strtotime('07/24/2019'); but when I echo the results its like this 1432407200 what should I do? A: use strtotime('07/24/2019', 'c') so something like $date = strtotime('07/24/2019'); echo date('m/d/Y', $date); and/or expanding a range of customer spend. However, there is currently no known integrated campaign management solution for customer relationship management that can give an organization both the customer intelligence and agility needed to seamlessly manage campaigns at the customer level, while providing a high degree of scalability for enterprise level organizations. Another prior solution involves the use of a centralized network service platform to perform campaign monitoring and optimization, and the centralized network service platform relies on complex, error-prone, human intervention and management of the organization's customer information. Additionally, this solution does not have the ability to provide a high degree of flexibility and scalability. The large network platform represents a single point of failure and limits the scalability of the solution. The prior art solution is also deficient in that it is inefficient. A server is needed for each campaign to be monitored. Therefore, a large network service platform will require many servers, which, in turn, will require enormous resources and significant hardware costs. Also, the limited scalability of the servers does not allow for the large number of campaigns that are typically monitored. The prior art solution is also deficient in that it is inflexible. When the network service platform is implemented in a "hub and spoke" network model, it requires the implementation of complex, error-prone, human intervention and management of the hub and spoke model. Accordingly, there remains a need for
